

Conference Call for papers:

*'The only disability in education is the reluctance to change:
How do YOU make change happen?'*

Antwerp, Belgium July 5th & 6th, 2011

The LINK Network will host a two-day conference on July 5th and 6th 2011 on Disability, Higher Education Policies and Practices and Effecting Change. LINK is a network of expert organisations from across Europe, co-funded by the EU Lifelong Learning program. We promote opportunity for students with disabilities in higher education. The LINK objective is to share knowledge, best practice and experience with the aim of raising the quality of education for third level students with disabilities.

Are you interested in making change happen so that higher education is more inclusive? Then we invite you to present a paper, have a seminar or workshop on:

- Influencing Policy Making
- Promoting Student Involvement and Empowerment
- Embedding Best Practices in Inclusive Teaching and Learning
- Improving the Transition to Higher Education
- Improving the Transition to Work
- Access to the Professions
- Increasing Participation in International Mobility and Exchange Programmes

We will also consider exceptional proposals that fit the general conference theme. To submit a proposal, complete the submission form available here and return to contact@thelinknetwork.eu by Jan 31st 2011. All proposals must be submitted in English and if selected, presented in English, the working language of the Network.

This conference is organized by SIHO on behalf of the LINK Network.

The final programme for the event will be released on April 1st 2011. Further information and conference booking will be available in due course.

Information about LINK, the conference and how to join the network can be found at www.thelinknetwork.eu.
